The Work Package 2

The Work Package 2 (WP2) of the project includes a survey in which the data collected from all partner countries.

The deliverables from the WP2 are:

- National Report &
- Transnational Report

The research conducted in all partnership countries, in order to deliver a timely and accurate snapshot of the world of freelancing in Europe.

The research phase highlighted the main characteristics of freelancers in the involved countries along with the expectations and needs of workers in terms of opportunities and training requirements.

The initial objective was to set up an overall analysis in order to arrive at the creation of defined profiles of the different types of freelancers the project wants to reach. And finally we did it!

The Handbook

We have started the creation of the Handbook. The final output of phase two is the Handbook, which aimed to be a guide for the creation of the freelance incubator model that can be adopted and replicated throughout Europe.

The aim is to provide an accurate picture of the training methodology to be adopted in order to build a solid and sustainable freelance economy, taking into account the needs emerged from the previous analysis.

The website

The website of the project is out and it has many potentials in order to help freelancers and support organizations.

Also, to develop this European project, we involved freelance economy experts, organisations and associations working in the freelance world.

We firmly advocate the importance of establishing a robust community of professionals at the European level and leveraging existing efforts in supporting freelancers. Our goal is to harness resources efficiently and collaborate to enhance our collective influence on the future of the Freelance Economy.
